Configuring Windows XP for NCI-Frederick Dialup Access
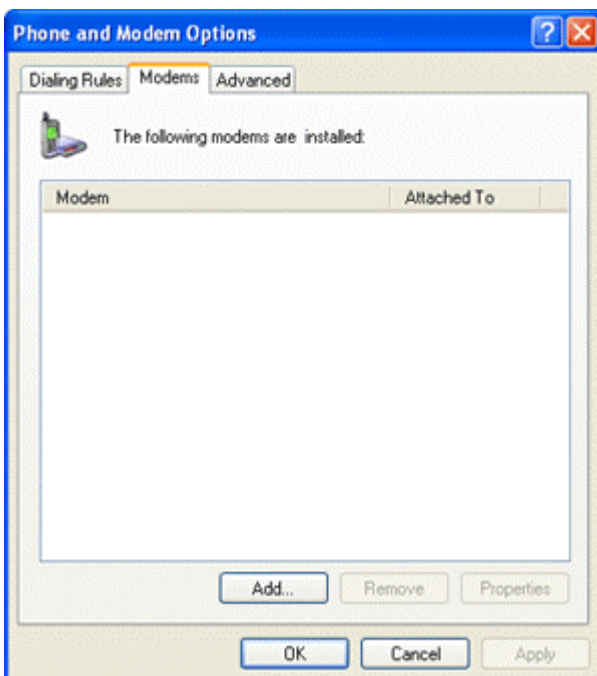

Modem Setup

Click the Start menu and open Control Panel.

Choose Phone and Modem Options.

Click the Modems tab. If your modem is installed and properly working, precede to Dial-Up Connection Step 1. Otherwise, click Add.

Click Next to continue with the Add Hardware Wizard.

If Windows XP was successfully able to detect your modem, then you should see something highlighted similar to as what is shown to the left.
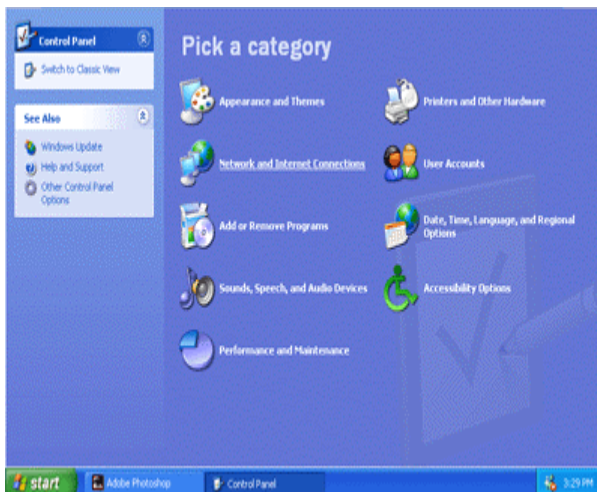

If not, you either do not have a modem or Windows XP does not recognize it. In the latter case, consult your modem manual or manufacturer to troubleshoot.
Click OK.

Dial-Up Connection Setup

Click the Start Menu and open the Control Panel.
Click Network and Internet Connections.

Specify your Location Information as appropriate.
Click OK.

In the New Connection Wizard, select create a Dial-up connection.

Click Next.

Fill in NCI-Frederick for the company name.

Click Next.

For Phone Number to Dial you will find the appropriate phone number at the end of this guide.
Click Next.

You have successfully created the Dial-up connection for NCI-Frederick.

Click Finish.

Connecting to NCI-Frederick

Click the Start Menu, then go to Connect To, then click NCI-Frederick.

Type your User name and password as you would logon to your workstation at NCI. Be sure you are set to dial the correct number.

Click Dial.

Your modem will dial.

It should then verify your user name and password. You should now be connected to NCI-Frederick at home.
